Scope of Practice

As an animal communicator, I listen and communicate your questions and wishes to your animal companion and I listen and communicate your animal companion's ideas, wishes, sensations and awareness to you. There may be things which I do not see or I am not told by either party. I may make errors, including errors of omission or misunderstanding. My intention is always to work with Universal love, to be as specific and accurate as possible and for the highest good of all those involved. While I have a broad and varied experience with many animals, you will still need to choose for yourself what is your best action or option in each case. I help you consider the options, but I do not choose them for you. I work with the best information available to me and I make no guarantees of particular results or outcomes. In all cases, I am stating my opinion based on my interpretation of the information I receive. If you wish to see another opinion, I agree, and I will be glad to help you connect with other animal communicators and/or practitioners.

I Am Not a Veterinarian

I do not diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent disease, prescribe drugs, or perform surgery. I believe a veterinarian is an important caregiver for your animal companion. Often, my role is to help you discover what questions to ask your vet. These questions reflect how, where and what your animal companion may be feeling. My role is to assist a veterinarian's care, not replace it. I will not answer questions or give out information which I believe should come from the vet and that is outside the scope of my practice. If asked to do so, I may choose to discontinue or end our working relationship, both for the good of the animal, and to maintain my professional practice as an animal communicator.

Other Practitioners

My approach is from a holistic viewpoint. My discussion of a holistic way of working with your animal companion is also part of my animal communication practice. There are areas well handled by other practitioners such as acupuncture, homeopathy, nutrition, etc. that I may refer you to.

Overall

In all cases, I am stating my opinion. In all cases, my work is intended to supplement licensed health care, not to replace or delay it. I encourage you to seek care from the appropriate licensed healthcare providers for your animal companion and yourself.
